THE PENNINGTON FAMILY.

As a prelude to the genealogy of the branch of the Pennington family herein recorded, it may not be regarded as inappropriate to record some facts concerning the family in England, from which this has undoubtedly descended. Upon an examination of Fuller's Worthies of England it is found that the name of Pennington does not occur in any of the counties, except those of Cumberland, Westmoreland and Lancaster, and the families of the name there residing are all branches of the same family, to wit:—that of Muncaster Castle, in Cumberland, where Jamel de Penitone, a person of note and affluence, to whom the family traces its lineage, resided long antecedent to the conquest. The lineal descendant of Jamel, Sir John de Pennington, Knight, was steadily attached to King Henry VI., and gave him a secret reception at Muncaster Castle in 1456 in his flight from his enemies. In return the King gave him a curiously wrought glass cup with the blessing to the family, that they should ever prosper and never want a male heir so long as they should preserve it unbroken, which, the superstition of those times imagined, carried good fortune and called it the "Luck of Muncaster." Of this cup the family are still possessed. This Sir John de Pennington commanded the left wing of the English army in an expedition to Scotland. His grandson Sir John de Pennington had a command at Flodden Field, May, 1513. Sir William Pennington, lineally descended from the above, was created a baronet in 1676. The family still reside at Muncaster Castle, in Cumberland. The present Baronet is Gamel-Augustus Pennington (1870). From Moule's History of Essex County, England, we have the following:—"A large brick house in the village of Chigwell, Essex County, was the family mansion of the Penningtons previous to 1620. John Pennington died here in 1702, and Sarah his wife, daughter of Sir Robert Abdy, of Albins, died in 1690, &c."

We have also from "Moule's English Counties," the following concerning the town of Pennington, two (2) miles west from Ulverston. "It contains fifty houses and two hundred and eighty-four inhabitants. Westward of St. Michael's Church is Castle hill, the site of an ancient residence of the Pennington family who removed hence to Muncaster in 1242 (this seems to conflict with the statement concerning Jamel de Penitone being at Muncaster Castle prior to the conquest in 1066). It commands an extensive view of the sea coast and beacons, &c. &c." Also, from the same authority, we have concerning Ulverston as follows:—"Two miles south of Ulverston in Lancashire is Cornishead, priory of Austin or Black Canon founded in reign of Henry II. (1154 to 1189) by Gabriel Pennington, under auspices of

Time of Charles I.
 14th Isaac Pennington, Sheriff (Lord Mayor in 1643) of London.

From Chalmer's Biographical Dictionary we have an account of Isaac Pennington, a writer of much eminence among the Quakers in England, who was born 1617. He was a son of Isaac Pennington, an alderman of London in time of Cromwell, and Lord Mayor of London in 1643. Isaac Pennington, Senior, was one of the King's judges, and upon the restoration he was tried and condemned, but respited, and died in the Tower. His son, Isaac Pennington, became a Quaker in 1658: he married Mary Springett, a widow, whose daughter by her former husband became the wife of William Penn. He resided on his estate, called "The Grange," at Chalfont St. Giles, Buckinghamshire. He was greatly persecuted for his religious opinions. He died at Goodnestone Court in Sussex, 1679.

From Neale's History of the Puritans, we have an account of Isaac Pennington, the Quaker, also, which is too long to be inserted here. One fact is there stated, however, and it might be an important one in tracing the family whose genealogy is hereafter recorded, and that is that Isaac Pennington was the eldest son of Isaac Pennington, the Lord Mayor, which goes to show that the latter had more sons than one.

In the Encyclopædia Britannica, in an account of William Penn's burial place, it is stated that he was buried in the "Friend's or Jourdan's Burial Ground," which is situated on the road from Beaconsfield to the neighboring village of Chalfont St. Giles in Bucks, and that two of Milton's friends, Thomas Elwood, who read to the poet in his blindness, and Isaac Pennington, were buried in the same sequestered grave yard.

The earliest ancestor to whom the Pennington family of New-Jersey can be directly traced is Ephraim Pennington, who, according to Savage's Genealogical Dictionary, swore allegiance to the New-Haven colony in 1611. His signature is to be found among the "Proprietors' Records," at New Haven, under date of 1613—"to have six acres within the two mile in three parts." His home lot was on George street, south side of one of the original nine squares, which square is now (1867) subdivided by Orange street. At a General Court in New-Haven, in 1618, he was admitted a member and received the freeman's charge. In 1651 "a little island in the east river was granted him." He died about March, 1661, leaving a widow, Mary, and two children, Ephraim and Mary; both of these were baptized October 22, 1648, in New-Haven. On the 5th of March, 1660-1, O. S., widow Pennington and her children came into Court—no will. Ephraim to have two thirds of the property and Mary one third. They nominate their mother guardian.

1. EPHRAIM<sup>1</sup> PENNINGTON. It is not known from what part of England he came, or when he reached this country, but as he first appears in New-Haven in 1643, the inference is that he left England about that time. Might he not have been one of the sons of Isaac Pennington, the Lord Mayor of London in 1643? He died 1660-1, O. S., in New-Haven. He m. Mary —, and had:—
  2. i. EPHRAIM, b. 1645; bapt. Oct. 22, 1648; d. about 1694-5, O. S.
  3. ii. MARY, b. 1646; bapt. Oct. 22, 1648.
2. EPHRAIM<sup>2</sup> (Ephraim<sup>1</sup>), m. Mary Brockett of Wallingford, dau. of John Brockett, a signer of the first covenant in New-Haven, and of Wallingford in 1690. They were m. by Mr. John Clarke in Milford, Oct. 25, 1667. Mary Brockett was bapt. in New-Haven, Sept. 28, 1646. In 1667 they removed to Newark, New-Jersey, and settled. In 1673, when the Dutch exacted from the inhabitants the oath of allegiance, Ephraim Pennington and ten others were reported absent from "New-Work." They had:—
  4. i. EPHRAIM.
  5. ii. JUDAH, d. prior to 1738.
3. MARY<sup>2</sup> (Ephraim<sup>1</sup>), m. Jonathan Tompkins in New-Haven, April 12, 1666, the ceremony being performed by Mr. William Jones. Jonathan Tompkins was baptized Dec. 17, 1643, in Milford. They removed to Newark, New-Jersey, 1667, and settled. Their descendants are numerous.
4. EPHRAIM<sup>2</sup> (Ephraim<sup>2</sup> Ephraim<sup>1</sup>), removed to Mendham, Morris co., New-Jersey, it is supposed from the fact that there was a Timothy Pennington (Penitene), in Mendham, Morris co., in 1749, who named in his will, Elijah, Jonathan and Ephraim. Elijah was in court in 1758, Ephraim in 1741. Jonathan was in Morris township in 1772, and had in his family five persons. He had one dwelling house, and a family consisting of two males between 16 and 50 years of age, one male between 50 and 80, one married and one unmarried, one female between 16 and 20, and one female under 16. Nothing further is known concerning the descendants of this Ephraim.
5. JUDAH<sup>3</sup> (Ephraim<sup>2</sup> Ephraim<sup>1</sup>), m. Anne —, who died Oct. 8, 1749, aged 57. They had:—
  - i. EXPERIENCE, b. 1724; d. Sept. 18, 1741.
  6. ii. SAMUEL, b. 1725; d. Aug. 6, 1791, aged 66.
6. SAMUEL<sup>4</sup> (Judah<sup>3</sup> Ephraim<sup>2</sup> Ephraim<sup>1</sup>), m. Mary Sanford, granddau. of Major William Sanford, of Barbadoes Neck, New-Jersey, who declined a Councillor's appointment tendered him in 1669; but in 1682 he served in the Council of Deputy Governor Rudyard, and as Major Sanford in the Council of Deputy Governor Lawrie. He died in 1692, letters of administration being granted Sept. 1. I appears he was married to Sarah Whartman, on March 27th, 1667 "on board the 'Pink Susannah,' in the river of Surinam." * He "desires his body to be buried, if it may be, in his own plantation, without mourning, pomp or expensive ceremony, and desires his honored friends Col. And. Hamilton, James Ennmett, Gabriel Meenville and William Nicholls of New-York, to assist and favor the concerns of a widow and five innocent children, with their best advice, help and council, to preserve them from those vultures and harpies which prey on the carcasses of widows and fatten with the blood of orphans." "Sanford Flats," at the junction of the Hackensack and Passaic rivers, in New-Jersey, derives the name from the purchase in 1668 of the meadows and upland lying south of a line drawn from one river to the other seven miles north from their intersection, granted to Capt. William Sanford for £20 sterling forever in lieu of the half-penny per acre. Nathaniel Kingsland became interested in the grant, and from him the tract derived the name of "New Barbadoes," he being of the island of Barbadoes.

Samuel Pennington by this marriage had :—

He continued in the printing and book business for some years. He was once or twice speaker of the House of Assembly in New Jersey. He served one term in the Council (now Senate) of his State. In early life he took a prominent part in the affairs of his town, and held many offices of trust, having the respect and confidence of his townsmen in an eminent degree. He m. Sarah Baldwin, who d. At the age of 19 he volunteered his services in the revolutionary war. He also served against the whiskey-insurrection. During the revolution he was taken prisoner, and sent to Quebec, where he nearly died of starvation. He finally escaped with some others, one of the number mounting to the top of the wall by standing on the shoulders of the others, the others being pulled up by means of their bed clothing, which was tied together, and were then lowered to the opposite side. He was a ship-builder. He was at Chestnut Neck, N. J., in charge of captured property, when he married Margaret Wescott (Leonard). He visited Newark, N. Inscription on tombstone in old burying ground of First Presbyterian Church, Newark, N. J.

"Ye visitors of the tombs of your ancestors stop a moment while you survey this repository of deceased moral virtue, containing ye remains of Judah Pennington, who by ye native aflection of heart maintained through every stage of his life an inviolate regard to ye sacredness of social obligations and moral truth, and exchanged this life it is hoped for a more blessed abode, on ye 20th of May, 1785, in the 36th year of his age.

"May his soul rest in peace."

From the "Centinel of Freedom," of Dec. 27, 1799:

"Died, on Thursday last, Aaron Pennington, of this town, after a painful illness of near eight months, in the prime of life, at the age of 29. His remains were deposited in the Presbyterian burying ground, on Saturday last, attended by a numerous and respectable body of citizens. He was one of the establishers, and for three years the editor of the "Centinel of Freedom," which he conducted amidst the frowns, persecutions, and unequalled injuries of a powerful party, with a firmness and independence that bespoke a mind that could not be easily driven from the path of his duty by considerations of personal safety, or pecuniary loss. He bore the pain and torture of his last illness with exemplary patience, and met his dissolution with a constancy and resignation which evidenced a conviction of a well spent life.

"Those connected with him by the ties of consanguinity have to lament the loss of an affectionate relative, and Civil Liberty that of a departed friend."

If inflexible firmness in the cause of Republicanism—
If unremitted exertions in support of
Civil and Religious Liberty
Are worthy of
The applause and esteem of freemen
This deceased Patriot
Has deserved well of his Country.

ERRATA.
